Issuing authority: University Executive Board
Scope: University of Applied Sciences
Classification: Not classified
Version: V01.01
Issuing date: 15.06.2023

Basis

The following Directive is based on the Framework Regulations for the Study and Examination Regulations, dated 12 Juni 2023 Art. 1 Par. 3.

I. General provisions

Art. 1
Content and Scope

¹ These Study and Examination Regulations govern the MSc in Business Administration Major Tourism and Change in addition to the Framework Regulations for the Study and Examination Regulations.

II. Admission and enrolment

Art. 2
Admission

¹ The provisions of the directive "Directive on admission to bachelor's/consecutive master's degree programs" apply.

² In addition to this directive, the following applies:

- a) Basic knowledge of Business Administration, amounting to a minimum of 10 ECTS points, is required for admission to Tourism and Change degree programme. Students who do not meet this requirement have the option of taking an admissions test in Business Administration.
- b) English language skills at C1 level are required for admission to the Tourism and Change degree programme.

Art. 3
Recognition of previous academic achievements

- ¹ The Admission Directive applies with regard to the recognition of previous academic achievements.
- ² The following applies to other recognition of already completed academic achievements:
 - a) Modules can be credited if modules with similar content and scope of performance were taken and passed in a previous degree programme.
 - b) The decision lies with the Director of Studies.
- ³ The application for the recognition of ECTS credits or equivalences already acquired before the start of the degree programme must be submitted to the programme administration before the start of the degree programme.

Art. 4
Enrolment and tuition fees

- ¹ In addition to tuition fees, costs may be incurred for field and study trips, surveys undertaken as part of coursework, etc.

III. Studies

Art. 5
Study structure

- ¹ The degree is offered as a full-time programme and as a part-time programme. The place of study is Chur, but individual courses can take place at other locations.

Art. 6
Curriculum

- ¹ The curriculum is specified in the appendix, and is subject to change.
- ² All compulsory modules must be passed.
- ³ A minimum of 20 ECTS points must be successfully completed from the group of elective modules.
- ⁴ Free elective modules amounting to a maximum of 4 ECTS points may be recognised within the study programme. They can be selected from the elective modules listed in the appendix. In order to achieve the 90 ECTS required to pass the degree, additional compulsory elective modules of the field of study or modules from other fields of study can be taken at Master's level instead of elective modules. In addition, free elective modules at master level can also be completed at a different university. An application to take free elective modules at a different university must be submitted to the Director of Studies, and must be approved prior to students starting the free elective module.

IV. Examination and graduation process

- Art. 7
Course assessments
- ¹ The number, form and duration of assessments are detailed in the module and course description in question.
- Art. 8
Examination procedure
- ¹ Notice of deregistration from a mandatory module and justified notice of deregistration from a mandatory elective module must be received in writing by the administrator of the study programme at least 10 days prior to deadline of the first assessment for the module in question.
- ² Deregistrations must be approved by the responsible Director of Studies.
- ³ Grades for assessments undertaken during the semester will be announced by the lecturers immediately after the assessments have been graded.
- ⁴ Module grades can be viewed on the official grade announcement date issued by the University of Applied Sciences of the Grisons.
- ⁵ The module examinations can be viewed on one occasion as organised by the administrator of the study programme. The students can take notes while they are viewing the examinations. However, they may not copy or photograph the examination, nor compare them to other examinations.
- Art. 9
Failed modules
- ¹ The module description determines whether and in what form re-examination may take place:
- Consultancy project
 - Master thesis
- ² The module description determines for all other modules whether and in what form re-examination may take place.
- ³ The form and duration of a re-examination for a module may differ from the form and duration of the standard course assessment. This will be announced in advance by the Director of Studies.
- Art. 10
Master thesis
- ¹ The regulations for the Master's thesis apply as set out in a separate guideline of the degree programme.

V. Closing provisions

Art. 11

Entry into force and validity

¹ These Study and Examination Regulations enter into force on 1 September 2023. They replace the Study and Examination Regulations of September 3st 2022.

² The Study and Examination Regulations apply to students with enrolment from 1 September 2023.
